ANNEX I

From original investigation

On July 9, 2012, through Circular SECEX No. 32 of July 6, 2012, an investigation was initiated to investigate the existence of dumping on exports to Brazil of nylon continuous filament textile yarn (polyamide 6, polyamide 6 6), of a strength of less than 50 tex, any filament number (shiny, opaque or semi-opaque), plain or textured, untwisted or with a twist of less than 50 turns per meter, raw or bleached, hereafter "nylon yarn" originating in China, South Korea, Thailand and Chinese Taipei, and damage to the domestic industry as a result of such practice.

Having verified the existence of dumping in these exports to Brazil, and damage to the domestic industry resulting from this practice, the investigation was terminated by means of CAMEX Resolution no. 124 of December 26, 2013, published in the Official Gazette (DOU).), of December 27, 2013, with the application of definitive anti-dumping duty, in the form of a specific tax rate. Subsequently, on February 20, 2014, CAMEX Resolution No. 8 of 19 February, 2014 was published, which amended the anti-dumping duty attributed to the Chinese Taipei Producer / Exporter Li Peng Enterprise Co., Ltd. The table below specifies the measurement values currently in force.
